Racial Justice Workshop (Virtual)

March 13, 2021, 11:00am – 12:30pm

A Journey Through 'Open Wide Our Hearts': "Call to Love and Action"

Keynote Speaker

Danielle M. Brown, Esq.

Danielle is the Assoc. Dir. of the U.S.C.C.B. Ad Hoc Committee Against Racism. Danielle has worked with the Bishops and her team to build a vast reservoir of knowledge and resources to guide us in our journey against racism. This workshop will also provide some of the training programs already engaged in by the parishes and collaboratives in the Archdiocese of Boston. As announced at the Convocation, we will continue to hold workshops and other events throughout 2021 and focusing on Racial Justice. Our objectives for this workshop are:

- 1) to delve deeply into the seminal document from USCCB promulgated in 2018 titled "Open Wide Our Hearts, the Enduring Call to Love, and
- 2) explore and share the many training resources available to use in our families, parishes and collaboratives, Catholic schools and universities, campus ministries, religious education programs, faith formation and adult education programs and other communities of faith.

Thanks again to so many of you who participated in our annual Archdiocesan Justice Convocation in November: "Racial Justice – What Can We Do?", and to those who signed Commitment Cards indicating at least one thing they would do to overcome racism as a result of the Convocation. We would love to hear from you about your progress, with your name or anonymously, so we may acknowledge the actions on our website – and hopefully inspire others to follow your examples. If you have concerns, suggestions, or questions, we would love to hear from you! Please send to: socialjustice@rcab.org
