THE CHURCH AFTER THE PANDEMIC

A Conversation with Dan Cellucci

Dan Cellucci, CEO of Catholic Leadership Institute, joins the Archdiocese of Boston’s Cabinet Secretary for Evangelization and Discipleship, Fr. Paul Soper, for a conversation to talk about the question on everyone’s minds, “What if they don’t come back?” What do our parishes need to consider and do to prepare for those who will – and also those who may not – return to more active engagement in Mass and parish life when they feel safe to do so? They will discuss trends they are seeing across the archdiocese and the nation and take time to answer questions from participants.

For an introduction to this topic, watch Dan Cellucci’s presentation for the OSV Institute, “What If They Don’t Come Back?”
